

MINE UNION HEAD KILLS ATTACKER

PLEASURE TRIPS ON WEEK END OUTINGS BRING FIVE DEATHS

Auto Crash Victim, Unhurt, Dies Of Heart Attack

By International News Service
Week-end outings and pleasure trips in Ohio resulted in at least five deaths and brought serious injuries to more than a score, a check-up by International News Service showed today.

After escaping hurts in an accident near Hamilton, one of the victims died from shock and heart disease. Three others were killed in automobile crashes, and a Martins Ferry youth was drowned
while attending a picnic.

Shortly after his car plunged into a ditch and upset near Hamilton,
Abraham Goodman, 62, of Butler, Pa., fell dead in the farm home of William Lither. His daughter,
Evelyn, who was driving the car,
drove into a ditch when she tried
to avoid hitting a dog.

When her daughter lost control
of their automobile, an Indiana
woman, Mrs. Fannie McAdams, 50, of Lawrenceburg, was killed near Harrison, O. Three others in the machine were hurt. Another car crowded them from the road, Ray McGuire, 40, also of Lawrenceburg, told police.

Garland Harry, 71, was driving
when his wife, aged 70, was killed
in an accident near Brookville, O., near Dayton. The victim's aged husband was seriously injured. Cleo Seibel, driver of the other machine,
was slightly hurt.

While on a Saturday night "date"
with a Wellston, O., girl who had gone home to Jackson County
from Columbus, where she had been working, for the week-end,
Clifford Thomason, 18, of Wellston,
was killed.

Possibly fatal injuries were suffered by Fern Snedecor, 19, his companion, and Helen Scott, the same age with whom she left Columbus for Jackson County Saturday afternoon. Harold Genser, 19,
was slightly hurt.

A heart attack, which probably was due to a pneumonia illness suffered last winter was blamed for the drowning of John Montello, 12,
of Martins Ferry, while with his parents at a picnic near Yorkville,
O. The boy's body was recovered.

Another young couple suffered fractured skulls in an accident
near Zanesville, Jack Prince, 18,
of Canton, and Miss Opal Patrick, 18, of Coshocton, were seriously injured, and four others received minor hurts. At the Coshocton City Hospital, where they were recovered, it was feared that Prince and Miss Patrick would not recover.

A freak accident cost John Board, 45, of Iowa, the loss of a finger at Columbus. While giving the signal to make a turn, a part of his finger was clipped off.

ALLEGED SLAYER IS CAUGHT BY RUNNER

Pedestrian Catches Man
Fleeing Scene

CINCINNATI, O., July 27.—Captured by a fleet-footed pedestrian,
a Negro giving his name as Eugene Nash, 27, was held by police for today while search was conducted for his alleged accomplice in the slaying of Samuel Wilson, 55, theater manager, during an attempted holdup last night.

Wilson was shot and killed during a gun battle between Hercules Rankin, Negro doorman of the Dixie Theater, and the two would-be bandits. One bystander was struck and slightly wounded by a stray bullet in the exchange of shots.

Frustrated in their attempt to rob the theater box office, the two thugs fled, Nash pursued and overtaken by a pedestrian, was captured as a suspect in the attempted robbery and killing.

WEST JEFFERSON DOG TRACK, DISCOURAGED, CLOSES GATES

LONDON, O., July 27.—A "closed for the season" sign today hung over the gates of the West Jefferson dog race track.

Discouraged as the result of an other raid Saturday night, the third of the season officials of the West
Jefferson Kennel Club announced that races will not be resumed this year.

Recent court actions and raids,
they intimated, have reduced public interest in the races.

Special Officer Jack Gallagher
and three others raided the club
Saturday night and seized enough

DEATH IS MYSTERY

Tactiturnity of the Apaches has hindered attempts of authorities to solve the mystery murder of Henrietta Schmerler, 23-year-old Columbia University co-ed on the Apache Indian reservation, near Holbrook, Ariz. She had been liv-

reservation, to do research work.
Both jealousy of squaws and ill
feeling of the braves are being considered as motives for the crime.

FIRE TOLL REACHES FORTY; START FOUR PROBES OF TRAGEDY

Ten Still Missing; New Home For Aged
Will Be Built

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—While
a cortege of sombre hued motor hearses rumbled away from the county morgue today bearing identified victims of the holocaust
which snuffed out the lives of at least forty aged men and women inmates of the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged, a four-phase investigation got under way
to determine the origin and cause of the disaster.

Meanwhile, with other deaths expected hourly among the scores of injured still in hospitals, every effort was made to locate ten missing inmates, six men and four women, of whom no word has been received since the fire broke out
Friday night.

Fire Chief Richard L. Smith
sounded a reassuring note with the announcement that a fine comb
search of the blackened ruins had revealed no trace of their bodies.
Smith expressed the belief these missing had escaped.

It was regarded as a significant coincidence, however, that while ten inmates were reported missing, a like number lay on marble
slabs in the morgue—unidentified.
The missing were: Henry Gilheiz,
er, Bridget Coonan, Michael Corrigan, Mrs. Roder, Hugh McKay,
Nick Rotishosky, Joseph Dekvria,
Mary Henry, Anthony Smith, Anna
Carroll.

Of the forty bodies taken to the morgue, thirty were identified today. Ten others still lay on slabs, but seven of these probably will not be identified and the death toll completed, until membership
rolls of the home are thoroughly searched and checked.

These seven bodies charred and
disfigured, were impossible to identify, even tentatively.
Fire Chief Smith today expressed the theory that spontaneous

Craft Communicates With Ice Breaker Near Arctic Goal

LENINGRAD, Russia, July 27.—The Graf Zeppelin, carrying famous scientists and explorers into far north on the third expedition by dirigible into the Arctic, was over the Arctic Sea today, according to a wireless message
picked up in this city.

The message said that communication had already been established
with the Soviet Ice Breaker Malign, lying somewhere in the vicinity of Franz Josef Land, which Dr. Eckener, in command of the Graf said that he hoped to reach twenty-four hours after his departure from Leningrad.

On the theory that the Graf had nothing to fear from ordinary bad weather, Commander Eckener left Leningrad yesterday at 11:10 a. m.
(4:10 a. m. Columbus time) despite an unfavorable meteorological report.

The silvery monster received a rousing send-off from thousands of people who had waited many hours at the Leningrad airport to see the takeoff. Every precaution was taken before the departure.
Nine thousand meters of gas were pumped into the gas bag and members of the crew of thirty carefully checked equipment.

Additional society members of the expedition, which will seek meteorological and geographic secrets
in the Arctic, climbed aboard the dirigible here. Among them were Professor Paul Moltschanov, whose new balloons, which will be released from the Graf at intervals,
will signal by means of delicate instruments atmospheric conditions
at great heights.

The scientific aspects of the Arctic cruise, scheduled to cover about 6,000 miles, were in charge
of Professor Rodolphe Samoilovitch.
Others aboard the Graf were Lieutenant Commander Edward H.
Smith of the American Ice Patrol.

Members of the expedition said that the journey from Berlin had been a beautiful cruise over North Germany and the Baltic Sea with outward incident. The only inconvenience was the small amount of water available for washing and the weight of the Arctic clothing in the temperate zone.

Night Club Owner And Guests Caught In Explosion Of Gasoline; Gladys Glad, Show Girl And Beauty Expert, Suffers Shock

NEW YORK, July 27.—Harry Richman, night club
owner and actor, was suffering from minor burns and three of his guests, members of a Broadway cast, were in a hospital today, victims of an explosion and fire on the actor's cruiser yacht.

Helen Walsh was suffering from second degree burns and was reported to be in a serious condition.
Virginia Biddle suffered minor
burns and Gladys Glad was protected from shock. Mark Hellinger, husband of Miss Glad and a New York newspaper columnist; Sam
Levy, marine captain and Robert White, Richman's chauffeur, were severely burned.

Richman's yacht, the Chavalmar
II, which he purchased two weeks ago, was wrecked by an explosion
Sunday morning as the party boarded it at Greenport, Long Island. A load of gasoline had just been taken on board and gas was believed to have dripped to the engine, where it was ignited by sparks.

A ragged streak of flame leaped
from the engine. Captain White and Miss Walsh were blown into the air and fell back into the cockpit. The roof of the forward cabin crashed and a mass of blazing wreckage fell over White and the stage beauty.

Hellinger, badly burned on one arm by flaming gasoline, and Richman, who suffered burns on the hands and arms, dragged Miss Walsh from the burning craft and threw her into the water. Richman and Hellinger then dove into the water and rescued Miss Walsh.

Gladys Glad writes advice on beauty for readers of the Gazette.
It appears on the editorial page

EIGHT SUSPECTS IN MYSTERY MURDER OF CO-ED RELEASED

WHITE RIVER, Ariz., July 27.—
Eight suspects detained for questioning in connection with the murder of Miss Henrietta Schmerler, University of Columbia co-ed, were
at liberty today after being quizzed
by federal and state authorities.
Officers stated that the seven

Apache Indians and W. R. Warner, a painter, could throw no light on the mysterious slaying of the girl.

While federal and state authorities co-operated in the investigation of the slaying, the victim's body was taken to Winslow, Ariz., by airplane. From Winslow her body will be shipped east for burial.

Sheriff Dan Divilbess asserted that no new clues had been unearthed, although he stated that the facts surrounding the actual murder were sufficiently clear.

Miss Schmerler, according to the officers, was on her way back to her cabin from an Apache tribal dance when she was waylaid.

After being criminally assaulted
the girl was stabbed about the head
and throat and her body thrown into a canyon. Her body was found five days later.

Warner was held for questioning after he was accused by an Indian of having a girl in his automobile the night Miss Schmerler disappeared.

BRIDGEPORT, O., July 27.—
Planning to picket the statehouse
and demand a hearing before Governor George White, a delegation of fifty striking miners left here
today for Columbus, according to officials of the National Miners Union.

The delegation, which represents
ten eastern Ohio mining towns, according to union officials, will protest to the governor against the use of armed guards in coal mines
and demand care for striking miners during the period of labor
trouble in this region.

Five of the delegation marching to Columbus will seek a hearing
with the governor, it was said.

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—Coal
strikers en route from eastern Ohio to picket the state house here will be given an opportunity to state their demands to Governor George White, the chief executive decided today.

Asked whether the governor will give the pickets a hearing, A.
Crouse, the chief executive's secretary, declared:

"Sure! The governor will be glad to hear what they have to say."
As long as the picketing is peaceful, no objection will be raised by any state, county or city authorities, Crouse said.

SUSPECT QUIZZED IN SLAYING OF OFFICER OF UNION IN CHICAGO

Denies Knowledge Of Death Of Drivers Union Executive

CHICAGO, July 27.—Jack
Barry surrendered at detective headquarters today for questioning in the killing of Ely H. Orr, who had supplanted Barry as secretary
treasurer of the Newspaper Delivery Drivers Union, and denied knowledge of the slay-ing.

Orr was slain early Sunday
by three assassins who fired
at him with shotguns
through auto windows when
Orr stopped at a stop light.

The slaying was investigated by union officials and law enforcement
bodies as a reprisal by racketeers
who were ousted from the union
last winter.

State's Attorney Swanson said:
"After a long struggle in which this office lent every possible assistance,
this union freed itself from gangster control. I am determined that racketeer control of the union shall not be re-established."

Another man was sought in connection with the murder, Dan Flore, business agent of the union
who was with Orr an hour before the shooting.

Examination disclosed that Orr
did not die of bullet wounds but that his head was crushed as he dived from his uncontrolled car to escape his assassins.

A newsboy witness said the assassins drove away laughing, one of them saying, "well, we got him right that time." Orr had received several threats during the past
year.

Barry served a term of eighteen months in Leavenworth for complicity with "Big Tim" Murphy in the $348,000 Dearborn Street mail
robbery and was charged with helping in the siphoning of $500,000
worth of liquor from a warehouse
in 1927.

SAY INTERNATIONAL BANKS AID HUNGARY

BUDAPEST, July 27.—Premier Bethlen of Hungary today announced that a group of international banks had granted Hungary a loan of 7,000,000 pounds (approximately $34,020,000), temporarily relieving the Hungarian financial crisis.

France, which supplied almost one-half of the loan, was understood to have received the Hungarian government's agreement to suppress nationalist anti-French propaganda in Hungary, and the announcement of the loan was accompanied by a declaration by Premier Bethlen that "so long as this government is in power there will be no question of a restoration" of Archduke Otto to the Hungarian throne.

Secretary of State Stimson left Berlin
shortly after the British foreign secretary, Arthur Henderson had arrived and while Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald was en route to Berlin for a "Chequers" conference with Chancellor Brüning and Foreign Minister Curtius.

The American ambassador Frederick
M. Sackett and a group of German officials were at the airport to say farewell to Stimson.

The conversations of the British visitors here were expected to cover totally different ground than
was the subject of Mr. Stimson's talks. The British statesmen were expected to discuss the German situation.

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—Suffering a possible fractured skull
and concussion of the brain, Maxwell Ayer, 16, was found lying in a semi-conscious condition in a street on the outskirts of Columbus today by a police radio cruiser.

Whispering incoherently, the girl said she was beaten by Charles Miller, 35, a former city policeman, when she repulsed his attempts to attack her. Miller was arrested. He admitted being with the girl last night but denied that he had attempted to attack her or had beaten her.

At University Hospital where the Ayer girl was taken, attaches said her condition was serious. Little hope was held for her recovery.

REVENGE MURDER IS THEORY IN DEATH

CANTON, O., July 27.—Stark
County officials and Canton police today joined in an attempt to identify the body of a man about thirty-two years of age who is believed to have been thrown from an automobile by "revenge slayers."

The man died at Mercy Hospital
a short time after he had been found lying in the ditch at the side of the Canton-Alliance Road near the Highland golf links.

A gaping hole in the back of his head caused his death, officials said.
They believed the injury resulted from his being tossed out of a moving automobile.

Robbery was discounted as a motive when police found more than $20 in one of the man's shoes.

SHE ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Marian Robinson Mack,
above, wife of Charles Mack who won fame as one of the "Two Black Crows," has signed a divorce complaint against him at Los Angeles.
Mack recently entered a complaint
for divorce in New York. The Macks were married in Washington, D. C., eleven years ago.

STIMSON BELIEVES GERMANY WILL PULL THROUGH TROUBLES

Leaves Berlin After Conferring With Officials

BERLIN, July 27.—Henry L.
Stimson, United States secretary
of state, hopped off by airplane
for Amsterdam, where he will board a boat for London at 1:25
p. m. today, terminating a whirlwind visit to Germany during which he discussed with German government leaders the problems
of world disarmament.

While here he conferred with President Paul von Hindenburg, Chancellor Heinrich Brüning, Foreign Minister Julius Curtius and other German government and financial leaders, obtaining a great deal of first-hand information of the German situation.

"A short visit has convinced me that Germany will pull through,"
the American secretary told German newspaper men shortly before the departure.

Secretary Stimson left Berlin
shortly after the British foreign
secretary, Arthur Henderson had

NEW TORRID WAVE APPROACHES OHIO; HEAT SWEEPS MID-WEST

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—With reports that hot blazes are moving slowly onto the Midwest from the Dakotas, Ohioans today began seeking out the cool spots to escape the new torrid wave.

The mercury started oozing upward this morning, but weather forecasters said there was no indication that the temperature
would reach the extreme heights
of the previous two warm waves
of the summer.

Dispatches today said that corn
in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Montana, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois that was not ripened was in grave danger from the hot dry winds.

California continued to swelter
in its usual heat. Los Angeles registered 92 degrees and even the Pacific Ocean waters showed new high marks of 76—said to be the highest in forty years.

Fresno, Cal. led California and the nation with a sizzling 114.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Warmer weather was due for New York and vicinity today after a week-end of comparatively cool weather. More than 1,000,000 persons flocked to Coney Island on Sunday and 600,000 visited other nearby beaches. Two persons were drowned, one died of heat and five were killed in automobile accidents.

DISTRICT OFFICER WINS BATTLE WITH ALLEGED ASSASSIN

Grapples With Gun
Wielder; Capture
Accomplice

PITTSBURGH, July 27.—
Patrick T. Fagan, district
president of the United Mine Workers of America and target for numerous radical miners' attacks, today shot
and killed a would-be assassin
on the porch of his home
here.

The dead man was tentatively identified as Pat Murphy, a renegade miner from Kentucky.

An alleged accomplice, who gave his name as Ted Snyder,
alias Hatfield, 39, of Fleming,
Ky., was held by police.

Snyder, who was captured while attempting to commandeer a Taxicab at the point of a gun, said he was a cousin of Sid Hatfield, slain
in the Hatfield-McCoy feud several years ago.

Fagan suffered a cracked head
a week ago when a horde of National Miners Union members attacked him while he was addressing a throng of United Mine Workers at Canonsburg, south of
here.

Frustrations of the attempted assassination followed a rough and tumult struggle during which Fagan battled his assailant in a 25-foot fall from the porch, down a steep embankment and over a high
stone wall to the pavement.

Impact of the interlocked bodies
caused Murphy's gun to discharge,
the bullet striking him in the head.
Fagan scrambled after the pistol
and sent two more bullets crashing into Murphy's body.

One slug penetrated Murphy's
head and the other his shoulder.
He was dead when police arrived.

Murphy's companion fled immediately after the shooting and was captured about a half hour later.

Fagan told police he had gone
out on the porch early this morning for a breath of fresh air before going to bed when Murphy
came up the steps.

With the blunt statement: "I'm from district 19" (Eastern Kentucky District 19, of the United Mine Workers), Fagan quoted the man
as saying, Murphy pushed a gun
in his direction.

"I backed away, telling him for God's sake to put away his gun,"
Fagan told police.

"As I backed away,

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Thy righteousness is like the great mountains; thy judgments are a great deep: O Lord, thou preservest man and beast.—Psalms, xxxiv, 6.

EDUCATION FOR WORLD PEACE

In a recent article in The New Outlook, Viscount Cecil of London, states that he believes if we are to secure world peace we must organize for it by winning over the active interest of the ordinary citizen in the movement for it by giving him both something to think about in relation to it and something to do. Ordinarily men and women are not naturally bellicose or partisan or sectarian and they have today a deep dislike for war, but if they are to help in the campaign for its elimination there must be definite programs and policies to which they can commit themselves and over which they can become enthusiastic.

It is interesting to find Viscount Cecil stressing the need for religious teaching as a preparation for the campaign that would secure peace for the world. This surely is a matter in which religious people and the churches should take hold and aggressive leadership. And a special and very fruitful field in which they might operate would be among the young people, whose minds need occasionally to be purged of the false nationalism that distorts history and encourages racial and international animosities.

COMING BACK

For years and years every well brought up child in this country was taught that if incisors, blebspids and molars were deprived of the attentions of the tooth brush, little black spots would appear on them and after a while big, painful holes. Mother said this, teacher repeated it, and so did the dentist. The tooth brush three times a day was supposed to keep the caries away. When it didn't, as frequently occurred, the eye of faith ignored the failure and conversation took other channels.

But even the eye of faith was bound to recognize painful facts after a while, particularly when patient after patient plunked down in the dental chair, exposed neatly scrubbed teeth with big cavities in them, and pointedly asked, "Why?"

Something was wrong and eventually it became noised abroad that while the tooth brush was a thing every cultured person ought to use, diet really decided whether the eating machinery provided by nature was to last long or crumble early and special stress was laid on the value of orange juice. A few persons went further than this and suggested that too much application of stiff brushes to enamel had certain deleterious effects, but these individuals generally were cried down by sticklers for oral sanitation.

But now it appears that the end is not yet. College researchers have been experimenting with rats—it's generally rats if it isn't guinea pigs or rabbits. And basing their conclusions on what has happened to the teeth of their rodent victims, they have decided that the classical idea, so to speak, was the right one after all, and that the good old tooth brush must come back to its own as the savior of human dentition. If we understand the gentlemen, it's because the so-called "protective foods" leave no residue on the teeth that they seem to prevent decay, whereas they simply do nothing to produce it. For example, milk and other dairy products may owe their "tooth strengthening properties" as much to the fact that they don't stick in the teeth as to their lime and vitamins and fruits and vegetables may be considered "nature's tooth brushes."

Ho hum, it's a truly weary, grinding world! We guess the only way to avoid aching teeth is to go to the store and buy the kind that won't decay, no matter what you do to them.

DEBT HOLIDAY

The effect of the suspension of payments on the intergovernmental debts arising from the World War on the exchequers of the several interested countries should not be lost sight of in considering the respective attitudes of these countries toward the moratorium.

Germany, without the debt holiday, would have had to pay ten creditor nations during the year ending June 30, 1932, a total of $394,400,000. She escapes meeting that obligation for a period of twelve months.

As a result of the all-round suspension of war debt payments, Great Britain will not receive from Germany and her other debtors $176,970,000; and she will not have to pay the United States and Italy $161,142,000. She is out, temporarily, $15,828,000 (exclusive of debts remitted to dominions and dependencies).

The net temporary loss to France is $89,150,000, which represents the difference between the $193,934,000 she would have received from Germany and other debtors, and the $104,784,000 she would have had to transfer to Great Britain and the United States.

The smallest net "loss" accrues to Italy, $8,595,000, which is the difference between what she would have gotten from Germany and Great Britain and what she would have had to pay Great Britain and the United States.

The United States foregoes the receipt of approximately $246,000,000, which would have come to it from Germany, Great Britain, France, Italy and minor debtors and against which there are no debts to other countries to be set off.

The point to be remembered is that these payments are not cancelled. They are merely suspended for a year. The eventual discharge of them presumably will be stretched over a period of years.

A year from now the same situation with respect to Germany will reappear unless in the meantime means have been devised to enable her to stand up under the load of reparations imposed upon her. The purpose of allowing debts to take a holiday was to make it possible for the interested governments to explore ways and means to that end.

An Americanism—To elect a man to enforce the national laws and then blame him for not becoming a general Santa Claus for the nation.

When you think you hear a bore talking in the hall, and it turns out to be somebody else; ain't that a grand and glorious feeling!

MY NEW YORK

BY JAMES ASWELL

When Constance Bennett, the movie star, detained here recently on her way to Europe, the porters and the crowd didn't see her face; they were appalled by her BARE LEGS—while a year ago, when the fad was on, would have excited little eyebrow-tilting.... The shortest street in New York is Edgar St. near Battery Park; it's less than 100 feet long....

Harry Acton, The American's ship news reporter, tells an amazing incident which occurred when Marlene Dietrich's husband landed.... A reporter for a big New York paper dragged him aside and whispered, "Who's this, what's her name—Derrick, Ditchrick? Is she a pretty good movie star?"

There are few town legends here to compare with Mrs. Mary Henderson, the grand old lady who recently died in Washington.... We kids used to play hide-and-seek in the watch-towers of her medieval Sixteenth Street castle home in Washington. For miles round we all knew she was a vegetarian who served jelly moulded in the form of turkeys, that she had erected a laboratory to teach her son the evils of nicotine and that she'd poured her husband's stock of humor into the gutter when he died.... Here colorful characters are only known to those who read the gossip columns.... And accidentally, the coverage on Mrs. Henderson's death was meagre and astonishingly colorless in the New York papers.... She was a national character.

An elevator boy in my building asked me today if I had a copy of "Ballyhoo," the new ad-sporting humor mag which sold out its first issue in five days.... I dug one up and gave it to him, whereupon he grinned, "These are selling for fifteen dollars now. You are very kind.... Well, maybe.... You can walk 771 miles and never leave the waterfront of the Port of New York.... Vermillion, finger tips, a la Libby Holman and Gertrude Lawrence, are on the wane.... Suggested reason: Men don't like 'em, never have."

Three hundred managers and owners of dance halls and night clubs scurrying to hear the law laid down to them in solemn conference by Commissioner Mulrooney....

A well-known New York hotel is seriously considering the employment of a group of suave Latin-American young men to act as dance partners for lonely lady guests. A-No. 1 gigolos, in other words!

Tucker Faithfull, sister of the ill-fated Starr, telling newspapermen: "I'm model now, but don't get excited! It's all in the flesh.... Pictures indicate Starr to have been—and Starr was a knockout.... Incidentally, although the Faithfull home is full of pictures of Starr, from childhood on, I saw only two old-fashioned pictures of the mysterious drowned girl in the press while the story was 'hot'....

To find a public drinking fountain near any of the park concessions which vend soft drinks!

The Leviathan and other palatial liners now have waiting lists for four-day cruises north and they don't care whether they lose money on the extremely low fares or not; the idea is, all the people who see the service aboard will want to go to Europe....

PLEA OF RAILROADS FOR FREIGHT RATE INCREASE ONE-SIDED PICTURE NOW

CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON—To hear the railroads' spokesmen testifying, one would suppose there could be no doubt whatever of the justice of the roads' plea for a 15 per cent freight rate increase.

However, the interstate commerce commission, which has stated by President Edward C. Duffield, of the Prudential, one of the recent witnesses before the commission, that the effect on the market will be terrific if all these securities have to be unloaded is too obvious to require demonstration, adds the Prudential magnate.

As for expenses, the roads already have cut them to the bone, relates Director Julius H. Parmelee, of the bureau of railway economics, corroborated by every rail executive of importance in the country. Or, qualifies Dr. Parmelee, if the paring down process is to continue any further, it will have to be done at the cost of deterioration in the quality of service rendered to the public, or else wages will have to be reduced.

The Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, as a representative body of business men, hastens to inform the interstate commission that it prefers higher rates to poorer service. The railroad brotherhoods are even more emphatic in expressing their preference for advanced rates (to the public) over lower wages (for their own members).

Such outside support as the insurance folks, the savings banks, the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, and the railroad brotherhoods is very helpful to the rail companies, because it sounds so disinterested.

Still as previously remarked, opponents of the rate increase proposition remain to be heard from. It is possible to guess pretty accurately at some of the issues they will raise.

First, they will ask: Is it true that the rail systems are operating as economically as they possibly can? The opposition will want considerable more light on that subject.

Second: Admitting that the depression is pinching the railroads, is it pinching them any worse than it is pinching practically every other industry? Why should the railroads, of all industries, receive special consideration?

Third: Supposing that the roads do get their desired 15 per cent rate advance. Will it yield them the additional $400,000,000 annually in revenues that they are clamoring for? Or will it only drive still more travel and shipping to buses, trucks, private autos, inland waterways and pipe lines? Will it not kill a great deal of hauling outright? Are not present rates more than the traffic will bear? And is not that the real explanation of the roads' dwindling business in the last decade? Will not higher rates cut into it further yet, instead of increasing their earnings?

Finally, Wilbur Laroe, Jr., once himself an interstate commerce commission examiner, but now legal adviser for a group of southern shippers who vigorously oppose a rate increase, already has intimated that he plans to make the most of this question: Are the railroads so very hard up, anyway?

Counsel Laroe's figures indicate that the roads have not been in the habit of paying out all their profits in dividends, but that they kept a liberal share of their earnings during prosperity's reign, and cached this money away in the form of a surplus, which now totals, according to his reckoning, a substantial sum—tot, more than $3,000,000,000.

Let them pay dividends for awhile, during hard times, out of their surplus, is Counsel Laroe's suggestion. They can do it for seven years, he says, even though in all that time, they do not make another cent in profit.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT
Cold Sliced Tongue
Lyonnaise Potatoes
Thinly Sliced Tomatoes, Green
Onions and Sweet Pepper on Lettuce with Thousand Island
Dressing

Fresh Berries Ice Cream
Oatmeal Cookies Coffee

The tongue is a very economical summer meal as the ends may be ground and served in omelet or sandwiches, and there is no waste.

Today's Recipes

Tongue—Wash a corned tongue well, place in a deep kettle with enough water to cover, bring to a boil, cover the kettle and simmer slowly about three hours. When the skin slips off easily the tongue is done. Drain off water, cool in cold water, and peel off skin. In cold weather the tongue is very nice served hot. For slicing cold, place in a cool place until thoroughly chilled.

Suggestions

One-half cup sugar, one-third cup fat, one-half cup molasses, one cup molasses, one egg, three cups sifted soft-wheat flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one-half teaspoon soda, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon ginger, one-half teaspoon cloves, or half teaspoon cinnamon, one cup milk. Cream together the sugar and fat. Add the molasses and beaten eggs. Stir together twice the dry ingredients and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in two shallow pans in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 to 40 minutes. Serve with cream cheese or whipped cream. One cup of the sour milk may be used instead of the sweet milk. In that case, use one scant teaspoon of soda in place of the one-half teaspoon called for in the recipe, and use only two teaspoons of baking powder.

Rice is quite old; it was grown in the year 3000 B. C.

Infant's Proportions Are Traced

By Logan Clendinning, M. D.

The proportions of an infant are not the same as those of an adult. The head is relatively very large. It is about a quarter the length of the entire body. An adult so fashioned would be a ludicrous sight, much like those figures with huge papier mache heads worn on feast days in European countries and occasionally seen in the news reels. Compared to the infant's head proportions as one-fourth the entire height of the body, the adult's head is one-seventh.

The baby's chest is very much smaller in proportion to the head and abdomen than the adult's. At birth the chest has a larger circumference than the chest, but by the end of the first year they should be the same, and after that the chest should always be greater in circumference than the head.

The head, however, in spite of its relatively large size at birth, grows rapidly for the first few years of life. It grows on the average of five inches in circumference the first year and then an inch the second and third years, after which it does not grow more than an inch and a half up to 13 or 14 years, after which no growth at all occurs.

In actual figures the circumference of the head is about 13 inches at birth, 18 inches at one year, 19 inches at two years, 20 inches at three years, 21 at five years, and 21½ at thirteen years.

This rapid early growth and subsequent retardation is natural enough when you remember what happens to the bony skull in those periods. The "soft spots" on the baby's head allow for the growth and expansion of the skull. The lines where the skull bones join, of which the soft spots are crossroads, are made of soft cartilaginous tissue early in life and grow rapidly to accommodate the brain growth. There are two soft spots, called fontanelles.

The small one at the back of the skull is closed up with bone during the second or third month of life. The larger one forward does not close until between the fifteenth and twentieth months of life. If the large fontanelle does not close by the twentieth month it is a sign of rickets, and should call for expert examination and treatment.

By the twentieth month the cartilage along the O-shaped lines of the skull bones is replaced by bone, and the skull and the contained brain grows then only very slowly until adult life.

The internal structure of the brain, however, becomes more complex with bewildering rapidity in that time. Reflex paths are opened up and cell connections formed for life. At no other equal period of time does an individual learn so much. He learns to decide from which side sounds are coming, to turn his sight upside down, to connect things with words, to control the emunctories, to take hold of an object with his hand, to know what is what to eat, to control the legs for walking—and ten thousand other things that make him the most interesting person in the world. Mussolini and Bobby Jones are dumbbells beside a year-old baby measured in the total amount of thinking and learning they do.

Widower Called 'Ace of Cads'

By Mrs. Virginia Lee

"Dear Virginia Lee: Please set me straight. I think the ACE OF CADS is the middle-aged widower with the child, who will take the time of a girl not half his age and keep us young fellows out."

"This girl is attractive, and could be having a good time with a crowd her own age. Naturally, she is pleased and infatuated with the attentions of this man. But is it fair to the girl?"

"They are not of the same class socially. He is from one of our first families. He has not been successful financially. She is going to demand all the things a younger girl should expect, and will be taken down when she should be having a good time."

"Maybe I am off. It is the girl that will suffer later, not the man. I like justice and a fitness of things in love as well as in business. I want to hear your opinion."

"Inquiring Jack."

I am afraid I cannot wholeheartedly call the man in the case "the ace of cads." Jack, Middle-aged people who fall in love with those half their age are rather pathetic to me. They do not seem old, they are usually so much more attractive than middle-aged folk—both physically and mentally. In fact, this man may not really be middle-aged at all. Being so much older than the girl and her crowd, he may just seem old to you.

Of course, I do not see much happiness ahead for either of them in case they marry. But both will suffer, the man in finding that the girl he adores expects more than he can give in the things that her youth demands. And the girl in finding herself mated to a man who is too old for her and therefore unsuited.

And lastly, Love is indeed blind in a case like this. Cupid has a way of "leveling all inequalities." He makes the girl seem desirable to the man, and the man fascinating to the girl—so much more worthy of her love than a mere unsophisticated boy/her own age. And neither can see the probable discord ahead. That is the tragedy of it. They deserve our pity rather than our censure, for we can do nothing to prevent the union.

And I realize how tough such a situation is on the boys who also love the girl and see her drifting into an unsuitable match.

Troubled Wife: If may not have been wise to have told your husband that you found other women's belongings in the car after he had been away without you, but it was natural.

Both of you seem to be jealous and quarrelsome, don't you? You married too young. That probably is the secret of your unhappiness. Why don't you get a job and take care of yourself? No particular use in living with a man you don't care about and with whom you constantly quarrel, and you only 19 years old. Better stay apart for the time being, as there are no babies, and see if your differences are lasting or temporary.

R. S. W.: Well, my best judgment is that if a boy takes a girl out almost every night, he is not, to say the least, indifferent to her. Why not have a good time and let the future care for itself? You may be all over your crush on this boy after a few months and not at all desirous of marrying him.

Get Hair In Good Shape

By Gladys Glad

If every permanent wave turned out as perfectly as the lovely wave that graces the auburn tresses of the charming Mary Astor, the task of keeping one's hair always beautifully waved and coiffured would be a very simple matter. But, unfortunately, permanent waves do not always turn out so successfully. And this is especially true of re-waves. For re-waving a head of hair that has been previously waved is a far more complicated procedure than administering a permanent in a virgin head of hair.

Before you misunderstand me, let me say that it is by no means an impossibility to successfully re-wave hair that has been previously waved. Far from it! But there are three factors upon which the perfection of a re-wave depends, namely: the condition of the hair, the operator, and the method employed.

The condition of the hair shaft is extremely important in re-waving a head of hair. And often women unwittingly ruin their chances of obtaining a successful re-wave by various practices that injure the hair shaft.

Constant wetting of the hair is the commonest of these injurious practices. The continual use of the water on the hair tends to remove the natural oils and leaves the hair dry and brittle. Hard water shampoos, and shampoos with too much alkali are equally as harmful, for, like home washings with bleaching and brightening shampoos they are likely to tear down the hair shaft.

Rubbing a bar of laundry or strongly medicated soap directly onto the hair is another practice that should be avoided. And over-exposure of the hair to the sun's rays is detrimental because it bleaches and draws out the natural oil. The most harmful of these various practices is the frequent use of hot irons on the hair between waves. This subjects the hair to more of a strain than it can stand, and is the cause of more re-wave failures than any other factor.

Always, previous to a re-wave, the hair should be submitted to a series of reconditioning treatments. Daily brushings and scalp massages, and frequently hot oil shampoos, as described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet are essential to restore the hair that perfect health that is so necessary for the success of the re-wave.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Moles

Luna: It is dangerous for you to attempt to remove the moles yourself. Such work should be done by a skilled skin specialist only.

Bleach

Lydia Heritz: The lemon juice should be applied after the skin has been cleansed, and should be permitted to dry on the face. Then a bit of cold cream should be used on the skin to counteract any drying effects.

Hair

A. B. C.: I would suggest frequent hot oil shampoos to correct the dryness and brittleness, and bluing rinses to remove the discolorations.

Protection

B. C.: A coating of cold cream and powder will help to protect your skin from the sun's rays. What you have been told about the effects of long exposure to the sun is quite true.

EDITOR'S NOTE: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail she will happily send you her pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture" if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For her articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs," two cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

LAND DISARMAMENT SUGGESTED BY FESS IN FRANKLIN TALK

U. S. Senator S. D. Fess, talking at the Miami Valley Chautauqua Sunday afternoon, recommended land disarmament as a means of solving Europe's economic difficulties.

"The entire world, he said, has co-operated in a marvelous manner in assisting Germany in her time of need, but a similar situation may spring up again soon perhaps in some other country. If the European nations do not take some action toward disarming their land forces."

Senator Fess explained that while all nations have gone a long way toward reducing their sea power, none, save the United States, has taken a single step in lessening its land or air forces. Some European nations, on the contrary, have strengthened their armies, he said, and have stronger forces now than at any other time since the close of the World War.

Senator Fess, explained the workings of the debt moratorium, traced the economic development of France and Germany, conditions leading up to the present situation, and the motives that actuated President Hoover and the United States government to interfere in Germany's behalf.

"It is hard to tell what might have happened had Germany been left alone to battle her problems. If the German government had collapsed, the employment situation in the United States, would undoubtedly have been affected," he said.

"It is nothing less than marvelous, to note the unity of opinion of both parties in the United States government, and of the governments of all nations in regard to Germany's welfare," the speaker continued.

Senator Fess reminded his audience of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington to be celebrated next year. He spoke of preparations being made for observance of the event, including the construction of a great boulevard between Washington and Mr. Vernon, restoration of buildings at Washington's birthplace, Winfield, Va., and the collection of writings of the first President.

FINED HERE, TAKEN TO DAYTON TO FACE PAROLE VIOLATION

Harold "Buzz" Jenks, 27, Towler Road, was turned over by police to Dayton authorities for disposition on an old charge Monday after he was fined $100 and costs by Municipal Judge E. D. Smith on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Jenks is under parole for a common pleas court of Montgomery County which sentenced him to a five year term in the Mansfield Reformatory last winter after he and three other Xenia men confessed having committed several burglaries in Dayton.

Jenks attempted to evade police after creating a disturbance at Washington Park during a ball game Sunday afternoon when he is said to have thrown a rock through the windshield of former Sheriff Ohmer Tate's automobile. Located in a pool room about 6:30, he tried to escape by running through a rear door and climbing a fence. He was brought to a standstill by a shot fired by Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman. He was taken to Dayton Monday afternoon by Desk Sergeant Lawrence Purdom and Shagin.

Legion's Choice

CROSS-EYED CONFESSIONS

I THINK I have one of the strangest stories ever told and my reason for telling it is to right a terrible wrong that had been done to an innocent party through no fault of my own.

I am a doctor in a small middle western town and enjoy a very comfortable practice. My father used to run a meat market and I wanted me to go into business with him, but I loved animals too much so I compromised by becoming a surgeon.

I had lovely offices on an exclusive street and it was my good fortune to be located where ninety per cent of the residents still had their appendix. Of course, some of them had their tonsils out and their adenoids removed, but a doctor can't expect everything.

Stitches with individuality. I worked hard and soon became an expert on incisions. My skill in sewing up a wound gave me a world wide recognition and anybody could look at your scars and tell that I had done the sewing. My needlework was so perfect that every seamstress in town became jealous of me.

I had as my nurse, a beautiful and brainy girl from a fine family. For obvious reasons I will call her Miss Brown, which of course was not Miss Vorbeck's name. She had been with me a little over three years when the president of the First National Bank presented me with a gorgeous pair of solid gold forceps in appreciation for the neat work I did in taking his wife's appendix out. The incision on her side was so perfect that he used to win a lot of prizes by exhibiting her at county fairs. She won so many ribbons with her scars that she couldn't wear them all at one time. My nurse had admired the gold forceps from the very day I got them, but of course I thought nothing strange about that at the time. I had been thinking very seriously of marrying Miss Brown, as she was madly in love with me, and I also returned her affections. Just because we both loved each

COUNTY SIGHT SAVING SCHOOL TO BE STARTED AT CEDARVILLE

The second sight saving school for rural countries of Ohio, will be established at Cedarville in September, according to County Superintendent H. C. Autman. A room in the village school is being prepared with special equipment including lighting fixtures, seats, text books and typewriter. All expenses, including those incurred for a special teacher, will be paid by the state, which also will pay cost of transportation of pupils to Cedarville, or of boarding them there if necessary. The school was originally offered to Xenia, but arrangements were not made for conducting it here. The object of the school is to provide proper training for the child with imperfect vision, and afford him the same opportunity as the pupil with normal sight. The teacher must have special training, available only at Columbia, Chicago and Buffalo Universities. The teacher helps students prepare their lessons, and they recite with the regular classes thus preventing segregation. While the state permits one teacher, teaching all eight grades, to have sixteen pupils, there are seventeen Greene County children already qualified, nine of them living in Bath Twp. Special text books printed in large type, six 300 watt electrical lamps for use on dark days and a typewriter printing bulletin type are among the school's equipment. There are only 371 schools of this nature in the United States, and a need for 6,650 it is said. Only ten states make provision for sight saving classes. The other Ohio school in a rural county, is in Ottawa. The local school was obtained through efforts of Superintendent Autman and Mrs. Pearl Wittenmyer, county public health nurse.

FREE FAIR TICKETS AND PRIZES FROM MERCHANTS ARE OFFERED

Would you like to have a free ticket to the Greene County Fair and also an attractive merchandise gift from a Xenia merchant? Then turn to the double page in this issue, straight out the scrambled letters found in the boxes in each ad so they will spell the name of the article offered, write out the name of each article and the name of the firm offering it, and mail your answers to the Contest Editor of the Gazette so they will reach this office not later than 9 a. m. Friday.

Eleven persons will be given free tickets to the Fair, a gift from the Greene County Fair Board, and also will receive one of the merchandise gifts offered by the merchants. The Fair ticket alone is worth spending a little time working out this interesting puzzle, but the fact that every winner will also receive one of the handsome merchandise gifts makes it doubly attractive. As a little tip on working the puzzle solve of the article, have two or three words in their name. Another tip would be to watch the windows of the advertise.

APPEALS CASE FROM COURT DECISION

Jerry M. Dennis, appealed Monday to the Ohio Supreme Court from a judgment of the Greene County court of appeals, which favored James C. Smith and Ethel J. Smith in a case known in the lower courts as the American Loan and Realty Co. vs. James C. Smith and others. Dennis was one of the defendants, as a creditor of Smith.

The defendant received a judgment July 1 which reversed a judgment of the common pleas court. The case involves the right of an exemption to be granted to the head of a family, and the right to the allowance of $500 exemption in lieu of a homestead. The defendants live at Fairfield, and the litigation arose over question of payment of a fire insurance policy on a house owned by Smith.

DEATH CALLS MAYOR OF WEST JEFFERSON

Turbulent Career Of Veteran Ends

LONDON, O., July 27.—Death today had ended the short but turbulent political career of Matthew W. Stutson, 83-year-old mayor of West Jefferson, O.

Stutson, first elected to office fifty years ago and then re-elected in November, 1929, thereby being forced to play a part in West Jefferson's dog race controversy, died, suffering a cancer illness. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday.

Changes of misconduct in office, growing out of the dog race controversy, caused Mayor Stutson to be summoned before former Governor Myers V. Cooper early in his second term. Before a hearing could be held, however, the charges were withdrawn.

Stutson was elected mayor for his second term after living in retirement for nearly twenty-five years. After studying law at home for several years, he decided, at the age of 80, to become a candidate again, and succeeded in being elected.

Acting Mayor H. H. Hume probably will succeed Mayor Stutson.

How to Care for Your Eyes

By DR. WILKIN & WILKIN, Optometric Eye Specialists

The Growing Infant

As the period of infancy is passing and the child begins to employ his eyes intelligently about him and notices surrounding objects, the time arrives when the character of the visual function should be observed.

Some children are able to see near objects with ease and distinctness, yet cannot recognize persons across the street; others who can see nicely at a distance may not be able to observe near objects as well while there will be a few who do not have been vision at any distance. Parents are too inclined to treat children as if all eyes were born with similar formation and endurance and this error is productive of many evils which show themselves when school instruction is commenced.

Note:—this is the seventh of a series of articles published in this paper, in the interests of better eye care.—Adv.

PINCH HITTING for Phil Frame by R. A. H.

A new Grand American trap-shooting champion will be crowned at the thirty-second annual tournament of the Amateur Trap-shooting Association at Vandalla, near Dayton, August 24 to 29. It will be the eighth Grand American handicap tournament at Vandalla. Shooting during the week will decide the clay target championship of North America, the ladies' championship of North America, the junior championship of North America, the class championships of North America, the double target championships, the ladies' double target championship, the state five-man team championship, and a number of special contests. The Grand American Handicap will be held August 28. The championship last year was won by a boy Rufus King Jr., of Wichita Falls, Texas, from 966 contestants. Other champions in past years were: R. O. Heikes, 1900; E. C. Griffith, 1901; C. W. Floyd, 1902; M. D. Dieffenfer, 1903; R. D. Gephill, 1904; R. R. Barber, 1905; Fred Rogers, 1906; Jeff J. Blanks, 1907; Fred Harlow, 1908; E. J. Shattuck, 1909; Riley Thompson, 1910; Harve Dixon, 1911; W. E. Phillips, 1912; Mark Hootman, 1913; Woolfolk Henderson, 1914; L. B. Clark, 1915; J. P. Wulf, 1916; Charles Larson, 1917; J. D. Henry, 1918; G. W. Lorimer, 1919; A. L. Ivins, 1920; E. F. Haak, 1921; Jack Frink, 1922; Mark Arle, 1923; H. C. Deek, 1924; E. C. Starnor, 1925; C. A. Young, 1926; Otto Newlin, 1927; Isaac Andrews, 1928; Moss Newman, 1929; Many Greens County marksmen are expected to take part in the Vandalla shoot this year.

Leo Durocher, Pock's bad boy of the Cincinnati Red infield, is by way of establishing a new Cincinnati record at least, with the way he is playing errorless ball at short field for the luckless Reds. Leo has accepted more than 180 chances at his position since the last time he made an error, during a game in May. This exceeds a previous record by Horace Ford and proves why Durocher got the "hiding" reputation he had when he came to the Reds from the New York Yankees.

Jack Ryder, veteran Cincinnati Enquirer baseball scribe, characterizes the Reds as the "best place ball club in the history of the National League." The appellation seems to apply in a number of ways, since the Cincinnatians have proved to be a nuisance to several of the best clubs in the league this season, have played fine ball at times and still are in the cellar.

An erratic start is blamed for this, largely due to ineffective pitching. After the pitchers got going well the hitting fell down and by the time Howley got his team to clicking in all departments the club was hopelessly buried.

Fred Lucas' work has been disappointing frequently. Benny Frey didn't seem effectual at the start of the season and St. Johnson, believed to be one of the best pitching youngsters in either league, has had tough luck his last four starts. The way Eppa Rixey has been able to contribute a good ball game now and then and the way John Ogden has come through on occasion have been bright spots.

Ogden was considered one of the most promising pitchers developing anywhere in the country when he was on the Baltimore Oriole staff several years ago, but he failed to be a sensation in latter company. Howley believed this was because of lack of ability and saw that the former Oriole star still had plenty of victories in his arm. His faith has been justified.

Joe Stripp's injury at this time has also hurt the club. Jersey Joe hurt his knee in a fall on the cement under the stands, and it has not been responding to treatment the way it should. Every football player knows what a knee-injury is and it may keep Stripp out of the lineup for quite a while. He is pretty much discouraged. In the meantime the Reds miss his hitting, especially since Douthitt has failed to come through. Since pinning the Reds this former Cardinal has been slipping like a rubber heel in the bath tub and is now well below the 300 class. What price Roettger?

Art Hyman, Carl Highley, Mark Shoup and Tom Hollenamp were among Xenians who saw the Reds play Sunday.

"Atlas" Smith is expecting a big crowd of Xenians to attend the softball jamboree at Paintersville Wednesday. The first game of the double-header is scheduled to start at 6:15 p. m. and after the softball ball, there will be a lawn fete at which chicken sandwiches, hot dogs, ice cream, cake, pop and other goodies will be for sale. The best part about it is that nothing costs more than a nickel. An orchestra will furnish music. The program will be held Thursday in case of rain Wednesday.

Merchants Come From Behind To Win Sunday

BEAT RAGERS AFTER KID PITCHER TIRES AFTER FIVE FRAMES

Ankeney In Relief Role Stops Enemy Also; Score 10-8

Early, sixteen-year-old colored boy, held the Xenia Merchants in the hollow of his hand at Washington Park Sunday afternoon until he tired and withdrew from the game in the sixth inning.

After Delaney came in from right field to take his place on the mound for the Dayton Racers, Manager Jess Chambliss' lads stepped out and won the ball game, taking a lead which they held behind effective pitching by Ankeney who substituted for Blake. The score was 10 to 8.

The visitors were ahead 7 to 3 when Early, who had permitted the Xenia team but five hits, decided he couldn't go the route. Delaney was wild, ineffectual and certainly no puzzle to the Xenia batters, who slaughtered his offerings for six hits in the sixth inning, batting around to produce seven runs that put the game on ice.

The ersatz felder was better after he got warmed up to his task however, retiring the side with one hit in each of the last two innings and fanning two. Perhaps it was well that the Merchants solved his delivery before he reached the peak of his form.

Blake, starting on the mound for the Merchants while Manager Chambliss attempted to save Ankeney for mound duty against the Hollywood girls Tuesday, also pitched effectively until the sixth, although the foe accumulated a lead during this time.

Two singles, two errors and a sacrifice fly permitted two runs in the first. A single and a double produced another in the second and they got one in the fifth but three singles and a double that produced three runs in the sixth chased him to the showers. Ankeney retired the visitors handily until the ninth, when three singles produced a run that didn't affect the result.

The Merchants scored once each in the first, second and fourth and were trailing when Durnbaugh was safe on an error to start the sixth. Johnson was tossed out, but Greer, Clark, Smittle and Blake singled. Ankeney doubled, Ruse filed out and Marshall singled to produce seven runs in the big inning. The game was the first of a series with the Racers.

Fans like the way Marshall, Clark and Smittle, Xenia boys in the Merchants lineup, performed Sunday. The Merchants will play the film beauties Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock.

SEEK BIDS FOR NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

The board of education of Beavercreek Twp. is advertising for bids for the $180,000 township centralized school, to be received up until noon Tuesday, August 25. Plans and specifications for the school were prepared by Walker and Norwick, Dayton architects. The building will be located on what is known as the Haynes site in the Dayton-Xenia pike about midway between Zimmerman and the present township school. It will house the grade and high schools, and will be one of the finest centralized schools in this section. Harry Ferguson is president of the township board of education. Carl Merrick is clerk.

WHEAT PROVES WORTH AS A DAIRY FEED

That wheat can be used in the dairy ration to replace a large part of the corn was shown in an experiment recently conducted by C. F. Monroe, Associate in dairying at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

In this experiment a ration made up of wheat 3 parts, oats 3 parts, and 1 part each of corn, bran, and oilmeal proved just as good as one in which corn was used in place of the wheat. Corn alone and hay furnished the roughage. The cows on the wheat corn silage and hay furnished more milk and fat than did those on the corn ration; however, the cows on the corn gained more in weight than did those on the wheat ration.

The four highest producing cows in the experiment averaged 50.1 pounds of butterfat per month on the wheat ration and 48.0 pounds on the corn ration. In general, these cows showed the same tendency as the main group in respect to butterfat test and liveweight gains.

Another group of ten cows was fed over a period of 195 days, October 16 to May 1, a grain mixture consisting of wheat 4 parts, oats 3 parts, bran 1 part, and oilmeal 2 parts. Mixed hay was the only roughage. The cows in this group were in various stages of lactation and pregnancy. To all appearances the cows suffered no ill effects from such heavy wheat feeding during the winter period. The average monthly butterfat production of 5 cows freshening while on this ration was approximately 42.1 pounds for the first few months.

When those Hollywood movie beauties come to Xenia Tuesday evening they are all set to furnish plenty of entertainment for Xenia people.

First they will play a baseball game with the Xenia Merchants at Washington Park at 6 p. m. and then, shedding their diamond uniforms and baseball paraphernalia, they will slip into their stage costumes and stage a typical Hollywood Revue at the Bijou Theater.

Versatile? No end! Rabid baseball fans who think the game is only for men will get a surprise when they see these beauties sporting themselves in one more field originally reserved for the masculine sex. The girls have shown their ability at the national pastime by winning half the games they have played so far on their coast-to-coast tour.

Pat Richards, one of the Richards Twins, who played in the Warner musical, "The March of Time," has an assortment of fast curves that should dazzle opposing batsmen and we mean baseball curves, too. And when it comes to swinging a bat, these girls find it little different from swinging a rolling pin. They announce that any Xenia girl baseball player will be given a trial before the game and if she makes good, can have a contract to continue East with the team.

At the Bijou Tuesday evening to accommodate the addition of the revue, the comedy will be screened at 7:30 o'clock followed by the featured film, "Daddy Long Legs" at 8 o'clock. It will be shown but once. The Hollywood Revue is scheduled for 10 p. m. and will feature Vivian Pearson, Fox star, who was adjudged America's most beautiful girl from a field of 15,000 entrants six months ago and won a Fox contract and a spot with El Brendel in the picture, "Women of All Nations."

Shannon Day, Paramount featured player who played opposite Richard Dix in "The Vanishing American" and other movies, is another attraction. She has played with Richard Barthelmess, the late Lon Chaney, Milton Sills and others. Natalie Harrison, Warner Bros. solo dancer, seen in "Madam Satan," the Richards Sisters, songsters in "The March of Time" and Jackie "Freckles" Hookey of the Our Gang Comedies are others in the revue.

MARSHAL HURT WHEN CYCLE IS WRECKED

SANDUSKY, July 27.—Suffering injuries received when his motorcycle was demolished by an automobile, Marshal James Sommers of Huron, ten miles from here, today was reported near death in Good Samaritan Hospital here.

The force of the impact threw Sommers over the auto, witnesses said. He suffered a fractured skull, broken hip, cuts and bruises and probably internal injuries.

Deputy Sheriff Victor Moore arrested the driver of the automobile and four other men in the car. The officer said he found a gun in the machine.

Sommers recently shot and killed William Klein and wounded his brother, Paul Klein, when the two attacked him after he had ordered them off the streets of Huron.

LANGS AND ALL - STARS HOLD TO LEAD IN RESPECTIVE LEAGUES

The Lang Chevrolet, last year's city champions, became undisputed leaders of the National League during the last week's games but this was the only change brought about by the week's contests.

The Langs were tied with the Downtown Country Club a week ago, but the Downtowners' defeat at the hands of the Wood's Barbers last Monday broke the tie and gave the auto boys a half game lead, which they increased to a full game advantage by a victory over the Graham Paints Friday night.

This leaves the Downtowners in second place, not seriously threatened by the Red Wings, who are in third place, two full games behind, and followed in order by the Graham Paints, the Wood Barbers and the Criterion team.

Standing in the American League remained unchanged during the week, despite the fact that the Krippendorf-Dittmann team won its game, because All-Stars, loop-leaders were idle because of west grounds. The shoemakers are now only half a game behind the leaders and Central High is only a half game behind the Krippendorf.

Games this week may bring about further changes, however. Two contests are scheduled for Monday night, the Downtown Country Club battle with the Criterion being the regularly scheduled contest.

In the other game, advanced from Wednesday night, the Langs will play the Red Wings a regular league game. Both games will be limited to seven innings. The second game was moved up from Wednesday because of the softball jamboree at Paintersville Wednesday which many fans want to attend.

"Atlas" Smith's Famous Autos will play the Downtowners that evening and the Langs will play the Wilmington Elks team, all preceding a lawn fete to be staged at Paintersville.

This arrangement will leave Cox Field idle Wednesday evening unless the Graham Paints book a game for that evening with either the Dayton Shrovers or the International Harvester team of Springfield, which is a possibility.

Central High and Krippendorf meet in an American League game Tuesday evening and the All-Stars and St. Bridg's tandem Thursday evening. Friday will see a National League double-header between the Graham Paints and Wood Barbers.

HOME PUPILS ENJOY SWIMMING IN LAKE THIS HOT WEATHER

McDowell Lake, at the O. S. and S. O. Home, has been converted into a swimming pool and bathing beach for children spending the summer at the institution.

Separate hours for use of the water by children of different ages and each sex, have been set aside, and the little lake has proven the most popular source of amusement about the institution since the heated term set in.

Many of the children attend summer school in the morning, but are allowed the privileges of the water in the afternoon.

Girls up to 11 years old swim in the morning from 10 to 11 o'clock, and the older ones from 3 to 4 o'clock each afternoon. The smaller boys go in the water between 8:30 and 9:30 a. m. and the larger boys swim from 1 to 2:30 in the afternoon.

Life guards are on hand every moment the children are swimming. Esther Hughes, Iva Mills and Evelyn Sebring who have passed the Red Cross life saving tests, are guards for the older girls. Glendon Lakes, David Trumphor, Russell Lockwood and Paul Long watch over the boys, and the smaller girls. So far their ministrations have not been needed.

Two rafts, one eight feet square, made by the boys at the Home, furnish great amusement for the swimmers. The children also derive much pleasure from a slide, which originally provided for the younger children is popular with the older boys and girls as well.

Work has been started by the boys of the carpenter shop on an eight foot diving tower, which will be equipped with a diving board.

In the evening, the children play games under the summer recreation plan.

Children who partake in athletics and those who work during the day are allowed to swim in the evenings.

Playmates

Two aristocrats of the Stamford, Conn., horse show, Celeste McNeil, popular younger set member, and her blue ribbon mount, "Playmate" (above), created more than the usual amount of attention wherever they went, either individually or collectively. Like to swap places with the horse-with that name!

DID YOU KNOW? --- By R. J. Scott

The Mysterious Young Man

By LOUISE GERARD

CHAPTER 41

EARLY ONE evening, the sound of a motor stopping outside his premises brought De Ath from his cooking-shed to the veranda. Once or twice lately he had had visitors; men with whom he was hagling about the price of certain incriminating evidence he possessed, which he had given them to understand was in the keeping of some lady friend of his who lived away in the mountains. The marconigram had said there were four Lamovits, so far only two had turned up. Nor had there been any sign of the mysterious "Yoursen."

Wondering with which he now had to deal he scanned the new arrival.

Coming towards his shack was a small, slim, fair youth in spotless white, whose car and attire suggested money.

A wary look darted into the derelict's eyes. Although he guessed the visitor was responsible for the alarming message in him he saw no friend, but another who knew facts he, De Ath, had once thought were safely buried under the tomb of years. To the cripple anyone who knew anything about his secret past was an enemy.

In an eager manner the visitor came forward, with pitying, anxious eyes scanning the gaunt wreck before him.

"You're De Ath?" he said. "And if I am, what about it?" "Did you ever know a Lee Lawson?"

"I guess you've got to the wrong spot. So far as I know, no one of the name lives in this district."

A smile that held both admiration and affection trembled for a moment on the young man's lips. "There's no call for pretense with me," he said quietly. "Once the rumor got around that you were still alive, I set out to hunt for you. You needn't be afraid of incriminating Angel. I'm doing the screening act too."

The cautious look in the old man's eyes deepened.

"That sounds all right, boy, but I don't get you. Maybe you're mistaking me for someone else."

De Ath's unfriendly, defensive attitude appeared to damp the youngster.

"Didn't you get my marconigram?" "I got a sort of message signed 'Yoursen'."

"Pleased to meet you, Mr. Yoursen, but I haven't the faintest notion what you're here about."

"But couldn't you read between the lines?" the boy asked, a trifle bewildered.

"What lines?" "I couldn't put it so that all the world could see. Yoursen. Your son, father, yours and Angel's. Don't deny me," the boy went on eagerly, holding out his hand. "I've spent a fortune looking for you."

But the cripple did not see the slim hand held towards him. A round him the world was whirling. The signature on the marconigram had told him nothing. With a grip that was painful he seized the boy's shoulders, staring intently at his face.

"My son! My son and Angel's," he gasped. "I didn't know I'd no idea. God in heaven what—"

As if afraid of saying too much he broke off and stood staring at the boy with unbelieving eyes.

Then Roy Burney started talking. And as he talked the man listened with the air of one who could not credit his ears.

World Needs New Giant Of Music Damrosch Claims

By MILDRED MASON

THE world needs a new giant of music is the opinion of Walter Damrosch, American master of symphonies, musical counsel of the National Broadcasting Co. and conductor of the Musical Appreciation Hour for school children.

"There are no giants creating music today," the symphony conductor says. "This age does not seem able to express itself musically."

"We have been feeding too much on the past," Damrosch further says. "Of course the works of the great composers of yesterday should continue to be the main part of our musical fare but we need a new genius—a new Wagner or Beethoven who will turn music in a different direction," Damrosch said that although musical composition was now at a low ebb, the love of music among the general public is greater than ever, due largely to the influence of radio.

Dr. Klein to Speak

Because of his unusual ability to translate complicated and technical problems into simple and easily understood terms, the Columbia System has asked Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, to address the radio public Monday evening on the European financial crisis. His subject will be "America's Stake in European Stability." The program will be heard from 10 to 10:15 p. m. but it has not been announced if it will come through station WKRC, Cincinnati.

Broadcast from England

Another program from England to be rebroadcast in this country Monday evening on the European financial crisis. His subject will be "America's Stake in European Stability." The program will be heard from 10 to 10:15 p. m. but it has not been announced if it will come through station WKRC, Cincinnati.

Educators On Air

Addressees by the world's educational leaders on an International Education Association program from Denver, Colorado, will be broadcast over station WJZ, New York, and associated stations Tuesday from 4 to 5 p. m. The program is scheduled as a special feature of the fourth biennial conference of the World Federation of Education Association being held in Denver from July 27 to 31. Speakers will include Willis A. Sutton, Atlanta, Ga., retiring president of the National Education Association; Count Hiroshi Hasebi, of Tokyo, president of the Imperial Japanese Education Association; Dr. D. P. Seshadri, Cawntore, India, president of the All-India Federation of Teachers and other noted educators.

The Theater

Talkies were a happy break in Neil Hamilton's career. Instead of being on the way out, as he was when sound was developed, he now has a long term contract with a studio that recognizes his merit.

Hamilton was seen here recently in "Strangers May Kiss" with Norma Shearer. Metro has just assigned him to play opposite Joan Crawford in "The Mirage", his second appearance with this star.

The story is the old Edgar Selwyn drama about a girl who took the easiest way, later to renounce a country boy with whom she fell in love. The comedy in "Heaven on Earth," a Universal film. Dick Arlen's new picture, "Touchdown," will have no fat boy, no bookworm with goggles and no last-minute touchdown. Still more radical, the girl does not send a message to the hero on the field.

Robert Ames is lucky. The studios all want him to make pictures and he is the prime favorite of the gay Ina Claire. His immediate destiny will be to play George Bancroft's business rival in "Rich Man's Polly," a ship-building story. A leading woman has not been assigned. The picture will be Bancroft's first since "Scandal Sheet," ten months ago.

Arianne Agels, a cousin of the late Jeanne Eagels, star of "Rain," who closely resembles her famous cousin, is among the 17,000 extras in Hollywood. She has never used her cousin's name in an attempt to further her own interests, however. She is a first rate extra, having had stock and Broadway experience.

Twenty Years '11- Ago '31

The auditorium of Trinity M. E. Church has been thoroughly renovated and beautified and will be opened for services soon.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Adair and son James, who have been spending two weeks at Cambridge Springs, Pa., have arrived home.

The morning C. H. and D. train from the east was delayed several hours by a broken bridge near Chillicothe.

In love, Florence Reed played in the Broadway production. The original script will be renovated by Lenore Coffee for talkie presentation.

In the meantime Neil and Joan are finishing up retakes on "Girls Together."

Edna May Oliver will play the part of "Mme. Moustache," a gambler and a dead shot with a rifle or pistol, in Radio's picture, "Frontier," in which Richard Dix will star.

The character is historical, the real "Mme. Moustache" having been known to men of the Black Hills gold rush as "The Queen of Deadwood." The picture is a special on Radio's list and will start as soon as Dix finishes "Secret Service." He has just signed a new contract.

Dorothy Peterson of "Mother's Cry" will go back to RKO to be in the first picture to be made by Seth Parker, radio star. On the same lot John Halliday has been added to the cast of "Penthouse" and he will also co-direct "Sour Grapes" for RKO. After a season of shorts, Slim Summerville will return to feature pictures to further his career.

Hundred Years Of Faith Celebrated By O. P. Congregation At Jamestown

COMPLETION of the passage of a hundred years in the faith of a people, was observed by the Jamestown United Presbyterian Church at a home-coming and centenary celebration Saturday and Sunday.

Pastors and members of nearby United Presbyterian congregations and of those of other faiths, assisted in the celebration, and more than 150 persons attended the dinner which featured the opening of two days' observance Saturday.

The Rev. S. R. Jamieson, pastor of the Sugar Creek United Presbyterian Church in Montgomery County, formerly a part of the charge of the old Caesar's Creek Church, antecedent of the Jamestown congregation, was the speaker at the opening program Saturday morning. His subject was "Faith of Our Fathers."

At the fellowship hour which followed the basket dinner at noon in the Jamestown Knights of Pythias Hall, histories of branches of the congregation were read, and recollections and reminiscences of earlier days of the church given by members and visitors.

George Junkin, senior elder, a son of one of the founders of the congregation, presided, and he recounted recollections of the days when, as a little lad, he was taken to church by his parents.

The Rev. L. L. Gray, pastor of the church since 1921 and one of the five ministers who have presided over the destinies of the congregation in its century of existence, read a history of the church.

A history of the Sunday School was read by Miss Margaret Lackey. Mrs. Eleanor Lackey Mitchener, New Burlington, gave a history of the Christian Union, and the history of the Women's Missionary Society was by Mrs. Catherine Darling, Xenia.

The Rev. W. M. Lorimer, West Alexander, Pa., only living former pastor, who preached the Sunday morning sermon, was among those who spoke informally at the fellowship meeting. Among others who told of their early remembrances of incidents in connection with the church was Mrs. F. D. Finley, Turtle Creek, Pa., a daughter of the Rev. W. A. Robb D. D., who was for half a century, pastor of the church, presiding over it when the congregation built the present church home in Jamestown, and left the little edifice on the banks of Caesar's creek, three miles west of Jamestown in 1867.

The Rev. J. H. Dean, pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian Church, Cleveland, who with Mrs. Dean and their three children attended the celebration R. L. Dean, and the Rev. F. E. Dean, Cedar-vill, another son of the congregation, spoke.

The topic at Sunday School at 10 o'clock Sunday morning was "Christianity Spread by Persecution." The Rev. W. M. Lorimer, West Alexander, Penn., former pastor, preached on the topic "Sacrament of the Lord's Supper."

A union meeting was held at 8 p. m. which was largely attended, and at which greetings were extended to the Jamestown church by other pastors. The Rev. H. S. Snyder, pastor of the Church of Christ, extended the good wishes of the Jamestown Ministerial Union. The Rev. J. P. Lytle, and the Rev. H. B. McElree, of the First and Second United Presbyterian Churches, Xenia, and the Rev. J. A. McConnell, United Presbyterian missionary in India, now visiting here, gave greetings from their people. A tribute to the late Dr. Robb, former pastor, was paid the Rev. F. E. Dean.

The evening's address was by the Rev. J. H. Dean, Cleveland. Special music was rendered by the choir at all services. Mrs. Alfred Ogan, Springfield, sang a solo at the union meeting. The church was decorated with flowers and potted plants.

The Jamestown United Presbyterian Church, is the direct descendant of the Caesar's Creek Associate Presbyterian Church which was formed July 26, 1831, by forty-seven members of the Massie's Creek congregation of that faith, who were assigned by Presbytery to form the new group. The church became United Presbyterian in 1858 through union of the Associate and Associate Reformed Presbyterian denominations, the united groups being known as United Presbyterian.

The church has had five pastors. The Rev. Andrew Herron D. D. from 1833 to 1843; the Rev. Cyrus Cummins, 1846-1861; the Rev. W. A. Robb, D. D., 1863-1913; the Rev. W. M. Lorimer, 1914-1920.

Ministerial sons have been: Rev. S. F. Morrow, A. C. Junkin, T. W. Winter, J. M. Herron, R. D. Williamson, W. P. Currie, Ebenezer

Currie, W. G. Spencer, F. M. Spencer, J. S. Turnbull, F. E. Dean and J. H. Dean.

Mrs. R. L. Dean, Jamestown, Xenia Pike, and her sisters, the Misses Anna and Mabel Robb, daughters of the Rev. W. A. Robb were in attendance at the celebration. The Misses Robb who are teachers at Knoxville, Tenn., and have been taking a summer course at Ohio State University, are guests at the Dean home.

financial-economic situation, only partially relieved by the recommendations made by the London seven-power conference of last week. Mr. Stimson's discussions were confined almost entirely to the subject of disarmament. International News Service learned from reliable authority.

Official comment on Stimson's visit was very scarce, but Stimson admitted that disarmament had been the chief topic of conversation.

International News Service

learned that Mr. Stimson had endeavored to outline to the German leaders a program of German American cooperation at the forthcoming world disarmament conference, to be held at Geneva next February. During the conference between Mr. Stimson and Minister of War Croener, it was understood, the controversy between France and Germany regarding the construction of the German "vest pocket" battleships was not even discussed.

This subject doubtlessly will be taken up when Premier MacDonald, Secretary Henderson, Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius get together, following MacDonald's arrival here. The British visitors are expected to touch upon all phases of the disarmament, financial, political and other questions contributing to the general European crisis.

combustion, resulting from the reported storing in a stairway of a floor scraper with oil-soaked dust clinging to it, was responsible for the blaze. He emphasized, however, that this represented nothing more than a theory and that all possible causes would be checked.

Investigations were under way by the coroner's office, the city and county fire departments and the fire underwriters association.

Rehabilitation efforts are well under way. As contributions to aid destitute survivors of Pittsburgh's worst fire in seventy years poured into relief headquarters, Mother Provincial Augustine of Baltimore revealed that a new Home For the Aged, modern and fireproof, would rise from the blackened ruins.

Side by side with Sister Agatha, mother superior of the home, the Mother Provincial inspected the fire-blackened skeleton of the building—charred timbers, walls leaning at a crazy angle and stairways filled with debris—in a sorrowful quest for the cause of the blaze. They were forced to admit failure.

A "committee of 75," comprised of leading Pittsburgh Catholic laymen has been formed to raise funds quickly to care for the sisters. Hospitals will care for those who are ill while arrangements have been made to house others in various Catholic homes in the Pittsburgh district.
